

Institute for Economics
and the Environment

ENVIRONMENT, ECONOMICS AND YOU

Speaker Series Spring 2016

WE NEED TECHNOLOGY BREAKTHROUGHS AS WELL AS EMISSIONS REDUCTIONS TO EFFECTIVELY STEM CLIMATE CHANGE

Michael Toman, Lead Economist for Climate Change, The World Bank

Michael Toman is Lead Economist for Climate Change in the Development Research Group and Manager of the Energy and Environment Team at the World Bank. His research interests include alternative energy, policies for responding to risks of climate change catastrophes, investments for greenhouse gas reduction and mitigating climate change by reducing deforestation.

4/7/2016 | 5:30PM - 7:00PM | SMSU 238

SPONSORED BY THE INSTITUTE FOR SUSTAINABLE SOLUTIONS AND THE DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS

For more information about IEE please visit

pdx.edu/econ/institute-for-economics-and-the-environment