

What kinds of relationships are currently being formed between neighbors, and are they helpful or harmful in facilitating connection?